Around here everybody knows no one is enforcing the law. After 5PM and on Saturdays and Sundays you can see Amish farmers and none Amish individuals burning trash, burning huge plastic barrels, dumping manure, NOT spreading it, ...they know when "office hours" are in effect. The EPA has recently come to the conclusion that 'something isn't right' in PA. That something is DEP-they are NOT using their mandate to enforce. And people here laugh about teh lack of control or worse - complain that they have to wait til 5 (or the weekend)to burn and dump. No one is enforcing these laws so people think that there must not be much to them. This is how they frame their comments about this.
